

Wilmington's Relay For Life

Top of the year and continues until Aug 31
Successful event celebrates, remembers and fights back against cancer

WILMINGTON - On Friday afternoon, they dragged coolers, carried sleeping bags, and held signs as they moved into the field area behind Wilmington High School, turning it from a quiet vacant space to an energized hub of activity. Tents popped up one by one. 850 registered participants came to celebrate and fight back. Campsites were decorated and the fun began as they worked to make a world with less cancer.

Saturday morning came and the crowd was tired but proud. They cheered as the event "bookkeeper," Kim Martiniello, announced, "We raised over $145,000 which is about seven to eight thousand more than we had raised at this point last year." While the event itself has concluded, the fund raising continues until August 31. Last year, Relay participants raised more than twenty thousand dollars after the Relay. Diane Harvey from Team Walking Feet explains, "I was so excited after last year that I kept telling people all about it, and then they were excited. Most of the time, they wanted to know if they could still donate. And the answer was yes, so the money kept coming."

It seemed the entire community was represented at the Relay, which ran from 5:00 p.m. Friday, June 18, to 9:30 a.m. the next day. Firefighters, Senior Center members, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, and teens from both Wilmington and Tewksbury high schools were there. You saw corporate team names like Morpho Detection and Kohl's and community groups like Pop Warner and Sons of Italy. There were family teams and neighborhood teams. People came from neighboring towns too.

Joe Martiniello, Event Chairman, opened the Relay with a theme of gratitude and excitement. He had already spent countless hours preparing the area and directing his team of 50 volunteers, but he did not seem tired at all. With total sincerity he made the statement, "I am so proud to be a part of this and so proud to live in this great community." Town Manager Michael Cairra echoed that pride as he addressed the crowd. Then the focus shifted to a main point of the event - honoring the 66 survivors who had registered for the American Cancer Society Relay For Life.

The cancer survivors had gathered in the bleachers. Under the hot sun, they proudly wore purple T-shirts marking them as champions in the battle with the dreadful disease. Representing them all, Angela Cairra spoke to the crowd. She sent a powerful message of hope and strength as she beamed with pride and fueled the audience with her positive energy. The same hope was exemplified by Jamie Zaniboni, an 8-year survivor who spoke next. He briefly told his story and then read a poem he had written years before during his initial battle. In it he asked, "How do you explain a feeling?" The answer followed as he concluded an emotional tribute to the tough mental battle these people fight; you just speak from the heart. Zaniboni and Cairra then rejoined the survivor group as they all moved to the field and officially kicked off the

2009 Relay For Life Cancer Survivors Walk the Track to Celebrate and Fight Back
Sixty-seven survivors registered for last year's Relay For Life of Wilmington; this year's Jun 18th Relay has 64 signed up so far. The Relay For Life honors and celebrates survivors and their caregivers. The event begins with a Survivors Ceremony during which cancer survivors take a victory lap around the track. Relay For Life represents the hope that those lost will never be forgotten, that those who face cancer will be supported, and that one day cancer will be eliminated.

As darkness fell, the night was brightened by the glow of illuminated bags called luminaria, each of which was personalized with a special sentiment.

Men, women, and children all contributed to the fight against cancer in Wilmington's Relay For Life. It was a serious task, but there was plenty of time for fun and games.

Town wins Liberty Mutual Grant Benton's contract renewed

$10,000 to help fund Fourth of July activities

By JAYNE W. MILLER
WILMINGTON - Once again Wilmington residents proved their town a bastion of patriotism by winning an online contest sponsored by a Boston based insurance company and being awarded a hefty grant to help fund the Fourth of July. Wilmington is the only Massachusetts town recognized for this honor.

Liberty Mutual Insurance Company, well known for sponsoring the Boston Pops Fireworks Spectacular since 2002, launched Bring Back the Fourth this year to help communities across the country fund their patriotic activities, often cut due to the economy.

"As a sponsor Liberty Mutual is tuned in to what is going on and noticed that cities and towns are cutting back or completely cancelling their Fourth of July celebrations. The prospect of losing Independence Day traditions is a big deal to families," said Liberty Mutual spokesman John Natale. "Seeing so many communities across the nation, especially where we do business, we decided to launch a contest to help continue or restore these traditions." Bring Back the Fourth was an Internet based contest in which visitors to BringBacktheFourth.com took an eight-question multiple-choice quiz on "responsible moments in US History," explained Natale. The contest ran from May 13 to June 14, Flag Day. Communities earned credits for each completed quiz with the top ten cities and towns being declared winners. More than 3,000 towns participated and more than 48,000 Americans took the quiz in the month-long span.

"It was just a groundswell of support for people's local traditions," said Natale. "People that took the quiz rallied families and friends to take it and word spread quickly." While Liberty Mutual is not reporting on individual vote counts for the winning towns, WILMINGTON - The School Committee announced at its June 9 meeting the renewal of the Joanne Benton's contract for three years, showing strong support for the steady leadership of the veteran Superintendent.

The contract runs for three years, though June 2013, with an option for two one-year rollovers. Thus, at the end of 2013, the contract could be rolled over to June 2014, then again through June 2015. State law does not allow for five-year contracts for Superintendents.

The contract includes a five percent raise in the first year, bringing Benton's salary to $163,800, though future compensation increases must be negotiated within thirty days of the contract turning over.

The Committee also voted to increase her travel allowance by $2,500. There were no language changes to the contract.

Fun on the Fourth

A year's worth of work

By JOANIE WALSH
WILMINGTON - When attending the annual 4th of July celebration you know you are going to have fun. One thing you may not know is the amount of work that goes into this enormous event. Countless hours of work from volunteer committee members are the reason that the event is such a success. And this year, the 30th anniversary of the "Fun on the Fourth," the town has even more reason to be thankful for the organization that has made this event the highlight of the annual Wilmington calendar - The Fourth of July Committee. "It's really amazing," says Committee Chairman Scott Garratt. "At a time when so many communities are cutting back or eliminating celebrations such as this, the fact that Wilmington has been able to continue this tradition for 30 years is a tribute to the people of the community and to Town employees who make it possible."

A tribute to the people of the community, the town employees and of course...the "Fun on the Fourth" volunteer committee members. Though the event happens in July, the committee meets throughout the year prepping, planning and organizing. They take only one month off - August. After the August break they reconvene in September - only two months after the big event - to start planning for the following year. During the September meeting the committee reviews the previous celebration, and begins to set dates for the next year, booking some of the major vendors such as the fireworks and carnival.

Though the Fun on the Fourth celebration is the main focus of the committee,

A look back at Wilmington of yesteryear...

The mystery of the white shoe and the tavern

By LARZ F. NEILSON

WILMINGTON - A bicycle trip some 133 years ago is the basis for a mystery story set in Wilmington.

The story concerns a young man named Peter Blackman who traveled by bicycle from Cambridge to Andover, passing through Reading and Wilmington. The story was published in Yankee magazine in 1966.

The mystery presented in the story concerns a missing bride and a white shoe, but another mystery is the exact location of the story. Mr. Blackman related that he was traveling on the stage road that ran from Lowell to Boston. He put up in a former tavern, an old colonial home in Wilmington. He described the house in detail, a two stories, with a cupola, a carriage shed on the left side, with three sets of doors. He even described the hinges. There was a front room that extended across the building, and the remains of a former bar on the right.

Young Blackman had, during the evening, a glass of a special "flip" with the owner of the house, who told him it was a former tavern on the stage road, in his grandfather's time. That would have been about 50 years prior to the bicycle trip. The host then proceeded to tell the tale of a missing bride, a tale in which a white shoe figured prominently.

When Blackman awoke the following morning, he was missing one of his shoes. In its place, however, was a white ladies shoe. Had he been visited by pack rats, or was there some deeper mystery?

Blackman said, at the end of the story, that he still had the white shoe to exhibit, as proof. He also said that the farmhouse had burned down about two years later.

In a Town Crier article published a month after the Yankee story, Capt. Larz Neilson attempted to locate the old tavern where the story might have taken place. One major problem was the stage road. There was no stage line that ran from Lowell to Boston, said Larz, and there was no tavern on such a line. He stated this twice in his article. He went so far as to state that, to the best of his knowledge, there was never such a farmhouse in Wilmington.

However, in New England Grouse Shooting, William Harnden Foster refers to a tavern that stood at Shawsheen and Main streets in Tewksbury, where the Oakdale Mall now stands. "The square New England farmhouse at the cross-roads, that, years before had served as a stagecoach tavern on the old Boston and Lowell Turnpike. That reference would not be the farmhouse in question, but it alludes to Main Street in Tewksbury having been a turnpike."

Given that the farmhouse was said to have burned, probably about 1880, determining the location is an unlikely possibility. Maybe the farmhouse was actually in another town.

Capt. Larz concluded his comments on the story to say that if it were not for the fact that the white shoe was there to exhibit, he might presume that young Mr. Blackman might have had one glass of flip too many, that night.

night. The all night walk reminds us that cancer never sleeps.

After the Survivor Ceremony, Master of Ceremonies duties transferred to volunteer Lisa Kapala of WCTV. Her voice was clear and strong as she entertained and informed the crowd about the host of activities. Each lap had a theme that she cheerfully explained. Her presence reflected the fun mood of the evening celebration. So did the laughter among the crowd as they played games like wiffle ball and Frisbee. There were smiles on the faces of the children who ran to and from the Relay Fun Zone, and plenty of dancing to the sounds of The Jessica Prouty Band and Two Cousins DJ. It was one big party, and everyone was glad to be there.

As darkness came, the excitement and celebration became mixed with tears and solemn moments during the beautifully orchestrated luminaria ceremony. Suzanne Polizzi Newell spoke to the crowd and remembered family members she had lost. "It's hard to think of someone not affected by cancer," she said. "My story is just one of hundreds." And more of those stories followed as Charlie De Stefano spoke too of those close to him and his group, the Sons of Italy, who had been lost to cancer. The Sons of Italy sponsored the luminaria ceremony, which this year included a scrolling computer-generated media wall of names and photos of loved ones lost and survivors. At the conclusion of comments, the crowd was directed to the track where the sound of Amazing Grace filled the night air. Led by the gentle notes of bag pipes, the crowd walked around the track one time in a moving and clearly memorable tribute.

More fun and festivities continued late through the night. Rocco's and Pizza Mia fed the huge gathering a midnight buffet. And then local talent, Steve Bjork, a polished veteran of the Boston comedy scene, took the stage and added new energy to the scene. His crafty anecdotes and reflections on everyday life kept the laughter going into the first official hours of Saturday morning. When the sun rose, there was a pancake breakfast and fitness classes to re energize everyone. The Relay For Life ended on a positive note of fighting back and focusing on winners. In closing comments, Sheri Walsh from the Wilmington Relay Planning Committee encouraged the crowd to continue the momentum of what they started. She asked that they make a commitment to fight back by thinking about one thing they could do to battle cancer. Attendees were given ideas such as screening for cancer, stopping bad habits we know cause cancer, and spreading the word to increase awareness. A commitment banner was made available for them to sign as a symbol of their pledge.

In the wrap up, tallies were announced, and cheers rang out.

Event Chairman Martiniello closed by announcing the overall Relay awards. The Buzzell Bees won honors of Best Campsite, and Sole Sisters were named Best Team Spirit. Top recognition for team fundraising was a constant back and forth between two groups, but in the end Warrior Moms edged out Morpho Detection Inc. collecting $10,273 over Morpho Detection's impressive $9,544. A solid showing by the Martiniello family and friends put the Fighting Falcons team in third place with $7,928.05. Bringing in $2,200.00, Tricia Lambert took third place in the individual fundraising totals. Christine Bowman edged her out by just $2.65 - second place Bowman raised $2,202.65. Finally, Suzanne Polizzi Newell held first easily with her total of $3,015.00.

While these were the formal winners, it seemed clear to all involved that much was accomplished and much was gained by many. Those wishing to join the fight against cancer can still donate. Visit www.wilmingtonrfl.com for that opportunity to be part of the winning team.

Health students take a big step

BILLERICA - Shawsheen Valley Technical High School prides itself on preparing its students for the future, whether its helping graduates move on to a four-year or two-year college or giving its students the skills and knowledge to enter the workforce right after graduation.

Recently, a group of almost 30 Shawsheen Tech juniors took advantage of quite an opportunity. In all, 25 students in the health technology program at the school completed a nursing assistant course through Mass. Public Health and all 25 students passed.

"We're pretty excited," said Dianne Norkiewicz, a health teacher at Shawsheen Tech. "This is a big accomplishment."

The students are all officially Certified Nurse's Assistants (CNAs), an acronym that is important when it comes to getting a job at a hospital or, better yet, enrolling in nursing school.

"Most post-secondary nursing programs require it," Norkiewicz said.

In order to pass the test, students had to take a written exam and a performance exam where they were given a particular scenario. Norkiewicz said some of those scenarios included transferring a patient from a bed to a wheelchair, taking vital signs and administering range-of-motion exercises.

Norkiewicz praised the efforts of first-year teacher Ronald Megna and the recently retired Diane Cortese, who both played a significant role in preparing the students for the course.

"It really is exciting,"

Norkiewicz added.

Tewksbury residents who passed the course include Julia DiDonato, Kayley Fleming, Lindsey Gonsalves, Kelsey Lynch, Rileigh MacMurdo, Kristen Madur, Taylor Marshall, Alyssa Martucci, Ashley Medeiros, Stephanie Sawicki, Amanda Schumaker, Gabrielle Trodella, Amanda Vocell, Breanne Vocell and Catherin Vultaggio.

Nicole Brown and Alisha Duffy of Wilmington passed the course.

A group of nearly 30 Shawsheen Tech students completed a nursing assistant course.

Fun on the Fourth

they also use the fall to plan another "little" town event - The Annual Tree Lighting in December. "Yes," says Garrant, "our committee sponsors and organizes that one as well." Certainly no small undertaking - but "little" by comparison to the work involved in the Fourth of July.

After the tree lighting, the committee shifts into high gear. There are a countless number of items large and small that must be attended to insure the success of the Fun on the Fourth event including; booking the bands, making sure all the permits are in place for the carnival, the meals and the use of the Town Common, planning all of the Family Day events and booking the entertainment, entering into the necessary contracts, planning the annual Luncheon that is co-sponsored by the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce, printing meal tickets, ordering T-shirts after coordinating the design competition involving Wilmington students, designing the food court layout, keeping the meeting minutes and financial records, speaking with sponsors and donors and so on.

During the year, each member of the committee is assigned one of these tasks and is responsible for coordinating all aspects of it. Once June rolls around the committee meets every week to make sure things are in place and to set-up the 4th of July Building for meal ticket and merchandise sales. At that point, all of the concerts have been scheduled, the permits are in place, the contracts with the vendors have been signed and only last minute details remain. Then the week of the event "all hands on deck" as each committee member is assigned particular duties including organizing specific activities, acting as liaison to the carnival, running the headquarters, coordinating with the town etc. And this does not even include all the hours that the committee spends for set-up and break down.

"We have a committee of 15 terrific people," says Garrant. "On top of that, we also have members of our 'sub-committee' who help with the luncheon and during the events, as well as former members who are always pitching in."

A huge part of the success of the event is the fact that many committee members and past committee members are involved year-after-year allowing for continuity and consistency in planning. Garrant himself has been on the committee for 13 years. "Yes, 13 years but I'm still a rookie. Joan Maga and Joan Searfoss have been on the Committee since it began!" Other members include; Tony

To celebrate the 30th year Garrant says that there are a few new things in store. "We have an extra night this year in honor of our 30th. It is the first night - June 28, and the committee will be providing that night's meal with much assistance from the Kiwanis." The theme of the evening is "Throw Back Night" and in honor of the first "Fun on the Fourth" back in 1980 the dinner will be burger, chips, drink and dessert for only two dollars! On Family Day, a brand new attraction will be available to celebrate the 30th anniversary - a 27 passenger train that will be running next the Fourth of July building.

With less than a week before opening day, the Fourth of July Building is now open for business. You can swing by to get more information, get your T-shirt or buy some meal tickets. Fourth of July Building Hours of Operation are: June 14 - June 27, 10:00 a.m. - 2:00 p.m. / June 28-June 30, 10:00 a.m. - 11:00 p.m. / July 1-3, 7:00 a.m. - 11:00 p.m. / and July 4 7:00 a.m. - Noon. For more information on events and schedules be sure to visit www.funonthefourth.com.

One more thing... when you do stop by the building or when you attend the event be sure to thank the committee members who for 30 years have worked tirelessly to maintain the mission of the very first celebration - to create an event that fosters the spirit of community, to provide an affordable, safe, fun environment for families and for making Wilmington "the place to be" on the Fourth of July.

Town wins Grant

Natale did say that, "Wilmington had very solid representation."

"A heartfelt thank you is extended to all of the many Wilmington residents, employees, businesses, organizations and friends who participated in the online history quiz. Your participation counted in the tally of votes that put Wilmington in the 'Winner's Circle,'" wrote Town Manager Michael Cairn in a release featured on the town's website. "Please spread the word and once again congratulations to the Wilmington community. See you on the Common!"

Other towns that earned the $10,000 grants include Steamboat Springs, Colorado; Springfield, Georgia; Belmont, Iowa; and Winslow, Maine in the small town category. Along with Wilmington, Montclair, New Jersey and Bowling Green, Ohio won for medium town category, and finally in the large town category Springfield, Illinois, Cincinnati, Ohio, and Vancouver, Washington.

According to Natale, the grants may be used to fund community fireworks celebrations, celebrations in municipal parks, festive parades in town squares, and ceremonies honoring veterans.

Pupa graduates from Massachusetts School of Law

One of 11 police officers to earn their degree in class of 2010

ANDOVER - The Massachusetts School of Law (MSL) of Andover, MA, announces that Brian T. Pupa, a veteran of the Wilmington Police Department, has graduated from the school's Class of 2010.

Pupa was awarded his degree in the school's graduation ceremony at the Collins Center in Andover. He was one of 11 police officers that graduated from the school's newest class. In fact, for the last few years, MSL has been actively recruiting police officers, giving them an opportunity to either enter the legal profession or simply strengthen their law enforcement skills to become better officers.

"We're proud of Officer Pupa and his accomplishments at our school," said Paula Colby-Clements, admissions director at MSL. "He is representative of the vast majority of police officers at MSL, who are some of the hardest-working students we have."

Massachusetts School of Law's mission is to provide a high quality, practical, and affordable legal education to deserving persons who have been unfairly excluded from law school. The school seeks to give these persons access to the societal advancement that is available, in law and other fields, to people with legal degrees. More information is available at www.mslaw.edu.

It's Your Money

by Joyce Brisbois

WORKING? WHAT HAPPENS TO YOUR BENEFITS?

Just ask the folks who retired, planning on the easy life with their Social Security benefits and retirement nest eggs. When the economy flopped, many found that nest egg wasn't enough and went back to work. What happens to their Social Security benefits?

There is an earnings test: how much you can earn while getting benefits. For those retired before the normal retirement age, the test starts at $14,160 of earned income; for every $2 earned over that, the individual loses $1 of benefits. At normal retirement age, a person loses $1 of benefits for each $3 earned. At age 67 there is no earning limit. Money lost in reduced benefits will come back in bigger checks later.

The Social Security Administration does not trim each check by a certain amount. Rather, benefits are withheld until the overage is covered (they ask how much you'll make). In the first year, what you earned before you applied for benefits does not count.

Should you apply for Social Security? Did you? Talk over your options with the tax people at .

The Flying Henry's Team

Dear Editor,

We held a Fundraiser BBQ last Friday, June 18, at the Tewksbury Elks. We wanted to raise Money for "The Flying Henry's Team" that is riding the Pan Mass Challenge in honor of Megan McCarthy. We had a full BBQ meal and three live hands. I would like to take this opportunity to thank everyone who helped and donated to the cause.

Firstly I'd like to thank everyone who attended. In addition I would like to thank Mahoney's for donating the hanging plant, Piccadilly Pub for the two $15 gift certificates, The 99's for donating two $10 gift certificates, Mangos and The Airport Diner for donating $25 gift certificates. Other donations were an Adirondack Chair and Corn hole game built by Steve Corsetti, a photograph taken and framed by Francis O'Connor, set of four Spinners tickets and a few gift baskets.

I would like to thank the Beach Breakers and the Bum Steers for entertaining us for the evening. Everyone had a great time. When all was said and done we raised $1,500 for the Pan Mass Challenge team. Thank you everyone, again.

All night, alright!!

Dear Editor,

The Tewksbury Memorial High School All Night Long Graduation Committee would like to thank the over 100 volunteers who made this year's celebration such a huge success! Without their dedication and commitment to the graduates, this event would never happen. This celebration takes months of planning and many volunteers, and the Tewksbury community ALWAYS comes through and makes each celebration even better than the one before. Some of the numerous things our volunteers did included creating decorations, preparing mass mailings, soliciting donations from local businesses, decorating the school, chaperoning the event and then cleaning up the next morning - at 5a.m!!

Over 200 graduates enjoyed this terrific celebration on graduation night. They enjoyed a hypnotist show, competed on an obstacle course, danced to the music, won prizes, and ate delicious foods all night long! Meanwhile, their parents slept peacefully, knowing that their sons and daughters were safe at a fully-chaperoned, drug- and alcohol-free event.

We would also like to thank the many local businesses who helped to make this event happen. They include:

Betsy's Best Bets

by Betsy Woods McGuire

Life is a Chain

Following the sun we left the old world. (Inscription on one of Columbus' ships)

About five years ago, for no particular reason that I can put my finger on, I started to dig up my family roots on my father's side. My sister thinks I'm searching for him, my father that is, metaphysically speaking. Even though I refuse to believe in bugaboo, I like her notion, mainly because I have no explanation of my own, and also because it sounds so mystical and adventurous.

This is not some kind of genealogy project - my prying is much more personal. It's like this, there was a huge family scandal way back (even by today's amoral standards this would be a scandal) which drove a wedge down deep between two sides of the same family. So, there are lots of cousins that I never met, and many questions never answered and a big part of "the story" is missing.

It started with finding my third cousin Vera Scolastico, who I had never met. Unbeknown to me, many years ago she had moved from East Boston to Wilmington (of all the places that she could have picked) and indirectly found me. She had become best friends with my cousin's wife on my mother's side of the family. What are the odds, I ask you, that she would walk into my life, in middle age, through that connection? Seems meant to be. Here we are now able to compare notes and fill in the blanks of our lives that we were not allowed to share. Our conversations have run the gamut from ordinary gossip to bowl-me-over bombshells.

Considering that all of the main characters have passed on, taking their secrets to the grave, and all of them are buried in the same cemetery, what better place to start.

Dedicated in 1850, only five miles outside of Boston, Woodlawn Cemetery is one of the oldest garden cemeteries in the country. Known for its beautiful landscaping, flower beds, trees and bushes, Woodlawn has its own state-of-the-art greenhouses (and its own wells) where they grow all of the flowers and plants used to decorate the grounds. Because Woodlawn is a private cemetery (not public property) there are strict rules and regulations that are enforced which give the cemetery a dignified look and feel. The non-sectarian chapel at Woodlawn, dedicated in 1911, was restored in 1998 to all of its original Gothic Revival splendor. Attached is Patton Memorial Hall, designed in the classic Arts and Craft style that was popular at the turn of the century - a convenient and tasteful room for receptions. Woodlawn Cemetery also has elaborate family and communal mausoleums for those who would choose (and can afford, I might add) a "bigger-in-death-than-life" extravagant final resting place. Not long ago I discovered that the anti-heroine protagonist of our family story is buried in one of them! Then while on my own private pilgrimage to locate my grandfather's grave I was flabbergasted to find a name on his gravestone that was totally unfamiliar to me! Since that lightning bolt, I've been looking for relatives that I haven't been in touch with since childhood, visiting the old neighborhoods and "asking around." The recent wake of my elderly uncle led me back further into our past, uncovering a few more bits and bites of the bio.

Call it bugaboo, I prefer to think of it as sheer chance that I would become friendly with Jimmy Marsh. If it wasn't for our shared interest in saving Silver Lake from weeds we would not have met. One day we're talking about nothing in particular when JM casually mentions the New Bridge Café. My head snaps to attention - I tell him that my grandmother worked there in the 30s/40s - he says, can't be, they've only been there about 35 years - I strongly disagree saying my uncle worked there, too - JM says, no way, my cousin owns the place. I make him an offer: I'll take him to lunch at the New Bridge if he'll show me how to come out of East Boston onto the Parkway, (not Rt. 99 or Everett Ave. or through the produce market), the way my father drove from Chelsea to East Boston - I want to find that route but can't remember.

Off we go. When I start to drive around the "salt pile" JM says, NO, where are you going - I say, the Bridge - he says, what bridge - I say, East Boston, you know, Meridian Street. He starts dialing his phone - George, have you ever been on the Meridian Street bridge - I interrupt saying, you grew up here, how can you not know ... I can hear George (JM's brother) saying, once, 50 years ago ... JM's head is bopping around, he can't believe I'm showing him a different way in - and out - of East Boston/Chelsea. We drive all over the place - we find the old junk yards and little by little it's all coming back - we swap funny stories and reminisce.

At the New Bridge JM introduces me to his cousin Eddie - I start to quiz the guy. He tells me that the Rainbow was there since the 30s, eventually becoming the New Bridge in the early 50s; that he's been there since then, buying the place in the 70s. I tell him that my grandmother worked there, but that was well before this time. Then I mention my uncle by name. Eddie says sure, Bea and Bim. I almost fall over! This guy that I never laid eyes on before, who just happens to be JM's cousin, is a direct link to my past. He actually knew my uncle and aunt. Had I stepped into the Twilight Zone?

After lunch JM asks if I'm in a hurry - did I want to stop by Woodlawn. Inside the office I get a map, and ask if they know the relationship between people inscribed on the same stone. The woman says no, all she can tell me is who owns the graves. We follow the map, we find JM's mother and father. Of course they're buried at Woodlawn. I stand at my grandfather's grave, looking down at his name. I can see his distinguished old world face that has been gone for OH SO LONG. I see him shrug his shoulders, and squeeze his eyes closed for only a second. He gives me a long, long look. I catch that twinkle in his eyes that I still remember so well. I read his mind and smirk.

Around the Dial with WCTV

"Where's Wilmington" host lends her voice to "Relay For Life"

On Friday June 18th, Lisa Kapala, the host of WCTV's interview program, "Where's Wilmington" volunteered as an announcer for Wilmington's Relay for Life event. The event itself raises money and awareness about cancer.

Joe Martiniello chaired the Relay and began the opening ceremony at 5:30 p.m. He gave a moving speech about how cancer has touched the lives of many in his family and he handed bunches of beautiful flowers to some of his family members whom he felt were especially supportive in helping him run such a successful event.

Town Manager, Mike Caira spoke and expressed his pride in the community of Wilmington for all their efforts in the fight against this dreaded disease and talked about Wilmington being chosen as a site for the CPS-3 study. Those who participate in the CPS-3 study will provide invaluable data in the fight against cancer. Two representatives from the company Morpho Detection talked about their involvement with the Relay and expressed that their company's $5,000 donation was something they were more than happy to provide. Two brave survivors, Angela Caira and Jamie Zaniboni shared their personal stories about their respective battles with cancer very eloquently. Stephanie Weymouth also sang a powerful rendition of the Star Spangled Banner.

A little after 6:00 p.m. Lisa was handed the microphone and took over announcing what events were coming up, telling the walkers what lap they were on and reminding the participants to keep hydrated and smiling! Ron Buccheri and Don Leard were also on hand filming the Relay so that it can be shared with viewers on WCTV at a later date.

Although the Relay is serious in nature, the general mood was light hearted and fun. There was a dunk tank, food stand and a K-9 demonstration by officer Eric Palmer. A wonderful dance routine was performed by the Wilmington Dance Academy dancers, Jennifer Earls gave a Salsa lesson, The Jessica Prouty band played rocking tunes and Dan, of Two Cousins DJ and Karaoke, played motivational songs for the walkers to enjoy.

All this was happening while the walkers made their journey around the track and that was just the beginning of the event! By 9:00 p.m. it was time for the Luminaria ceremony where bags with a candle inside were lit in the twilight to spell out the word "HOPE" in memory of those who lost their fight.

As Lisa handed the microphone back to Joe at 9:00 p.m. she said she felt both honored and privileged to have been able to volunteer for such a worthy and moving event. No doubt she will be back again next year lending her voice and support to Wilmington's Relay for Life.

Local CENTURY 21 Office Releases Spring Survey Results

WILMINGTON - Many people dream of buying their first home or trading up to a new home that will better suit their changing needs. However, as the market begins to climb out of one of the most challenging economic downturns in recent history, the current state of the real estate market may be in question in many peoples' minds. Is it the right time to make a move?

In April, two giants in the real estate market announced interesting survey results. Fannie Mae found that two-thirds of Americans (65 percent) are still bullish on homeownership, preferring to own a home despite the challenging economic environment and the housing downturn. Additional research conducted by Century 21 Real Estate LLC provides further insight.

CENTURY 21(r) First-Time Home Buyers and Sellers survey captured and compared the opinions of prospective home buyers and sellers who either purchased or sold their first home within the past year or are planning to buy or sell their first home within the next year. The majority of survey respondents had moved or intended to move more than 10 miles but less than 50 miles from their previous location, indicating current market conditions may be a catalyst for buying or selling homes, as opposed to a desire to dramatically change geographic location or relocate for a job.

"Buying a home, whether it's your first or subsequent purchase, is the single greatest financial decision that most people will make in their lifetime," counsels Rick Davidson, president and chief executive officer, Century 21 Real Estate LLC. "And, our research indicates that today's market presents a generational opportunity for home buyers and current home owners looking to leverage their market position."

More than 80 percent of first-time homebuyers and sellers feel the current housing market is more affordable today than this time last year. This is despite the fact that 40 percent of all respondents are more worried about the economy now compared to this time last year. Federal tax credits and solid mortgage rates have had a positive impact on driving people to take action.

A full market recovery takes time and current conditions continue to favor buyers. While buyers are excited about the opportunities in the current market, sellers note their main concern is losing money on the sale of their home and receiving offers near their asking price.

When will the balance between housing need and inventory return? The real estate industry typically considers six months of inventory to represent a balanced market. According to the National Association of REALTORS(r) the number of homes for sale currently represents approximately eight months of inventory and has decreased 21.7 percent below the record of 4.58 million homes for sale in July 2008.

First-time home buyers anticipate home prices will soon begin to rise and in fact, about half of first-time buyers (48 percent) expect an increase by this time next year, thereby reestablishing better market equilibrium.

Whether you are considering buying or selling a home, 60 percent of first-time homebuyers do not feel they have a good handle on the real estate process. Given the complexity and opportunity of today's real estate market, 85 percent of both first-time buyers and sellers feel that using a real estate professional is important. Allow an experienced professional to help guide you to the home that is right for you, at a price you can afford.

The market is recovering and providing a powerful opportunity to act. Take advantage of positive price points and low interest rates today.

For additional information about market conditions in Wilmington, contact David O'Neil at (978) 657-8444 or C21SPINONE@aol.com. *National Association of Realtors Existing Home Sales Report, March 2010 Methodology - Century 21 Real Estate LLC First Time Home Buyers and Sellers Survey

MarketTools, Inc. conducted a quantitative survey on behalf of Century 21 Real Estate LLC with 708 prospective home buyers and sellers who either purchased or sold their first home within the past year or are planning to buy or sell their first home within the next year. The quantitative study yielded results from 353 first-time home buyers and 355 first-time home sellers in the form of an online survey fielded from March 12 to 16. Wilmington Girl Scout earns Gold Award

WILMINGTON - Girl Scouts of Eastern Massachusetts is proud to announce that Wilmington Girl Scout Melissa Preziosi earned her Girl Scout Gold Award.

The Girl Scout Gold Award is the highest achievement in Girl Scouting. The Girl Scout's project is something that fulfills a need within a girl's community whether local or global, creates change and hopefully, is something that becomes ongoing. The project is more than a good service project. It encompasses organizational, leadership and networking skills. The project usually takes about two years to complete. Last year, approximately 5,500 girls received the Girl Scout Gold Award. That was around 5.4 percent of the eligible registered Girl Scouts in grades 10-12.

Melissa loves art and worked to create an inter-generational experience for high school students and seniors held at the Senior Center for her Girl Scout Gold Award. Preziosi announced the classes in the monthly Senior Center newsletter and spread the word at the high school through word of mouth. Melissa wanted all of the participants both young and old to learn new art techniques. Melissa researched art and created lesson plans for each week's classes. Plans are in the works to keep the club going each year.

OBITUARIES

Christine M. Drew

Formerly of Wilmington; Director of the Somerset County New Jersey Council on Alcoholism

LAKE OSWEGO, OR - Christine M. (McLaughlin) Drew, a former Wilmington resident and twin sister of the late Rachel Palmer, passed away June 2nd at the age of 79 of complications from congestive heart failure.

Chris was born and raised in Woburn and later moved to New Jersey and ultimately, to Oregon in 1990. In high school, pre-Title 9, she was a member of the St. Charles girls' basketball team for four years and won the Division Championship in 1948. Her most recent basketball focus had been the Portland Trailblazers as her family and friends can attest, but she was rooting for the Celtics going into the NBA finals.

Chris had many lives and touched many lives. After raising two sons and being a supportive wife to her husband's career, she embarked on a new path. After studying at Rutgers, she became a counselor and ultimately, Co-director of Honesty House in Stirling, NJ and continuing on to become Director of the Somerset County New Jersey Council on Alcoholism. Her next role was an amazing "granny/nanny" to her two granddaughters, a job that brought her to Oregon. Once there she became an active member of the Lake Oswego Adult Center, Church of the Resurrection Quilters, and later the Mary's Woods Community, where she volunteered regularly and most recently served as a Brain Fitness Coach.

Chris cherished her family and is survived by her sons, Walter Drew of Middletown, CT, Greg Drew and his wife Jane of Lake Oswego, OR, loving grandmother of Christine Drew of Auburn, WA, Alex Drew of New York City, Katherine Drew and her husband Jeremy Cogdill of Portland, OR and the late Danny Drew, dear sister of Jane McLaughlin of Woods Hole, MA. She is predeceased by her parents James and Christine McLaughlin, former husband Walter Drew Sr., brother James McLaughlin, sister Lillian Hooban and twin sister Rachel Palmer. Christine was a long-time friend of Bill Wilson and is survived by countless friends and was grateful for each one of them.

A Resurrection Mass was celebrated on June 8th in the Mary's Woods Provincial House Chapel in Lake Oswego, OR.

Christine's family will be receiving people at the Nichols Funeral Home, Inc., 187 Middlesex Ave. (Rte. 62), Wilmington, on Saturday, June 26th from 10:30 - 11:30 a.m. followed by a Funeral Service at 11:30 a.m. Interment Wildwood Cemetery, Wilmington. In lieu of flowers memorial donations in Christine's name may be made to the American Heart Association, 20 Speen St., Framingham, MA 01701. Ruth G. Howe

Loved sewing, outdoor sports and singing

MILFORD, NH - Ruth G. (Dubord) Howe, formerly of Wilmington and Tewksbury Massachusetts, Ft. Myers, Florida, and more recently of Greenville and Milford NH, died on June 13, 2010 after a lengthy illness. A devoted wife of 67 years, she was the widow of the late Leland R. Howe who passed away on April 8, 2009.

Ruth loved spending time with her family, plus sewing, camping, canoeing, gardening, ice skating, roller skating and singing. Ask any of her Grandchildren and they will tell you how "Nana" could whistle a tune! Ruth had a beautiful voice, and enjoyed performing with the local chorus when she and Lee lived in Ft. Myers.

Born in Somerville Ma, she was the daughter of the late Louis and Ruth (Leavitt) Dubord. She moved to Wilmington as a child, and in her teens she met "the love of her life" Leland (Lee) Howe, also of Wilmington. They married and Lee went off to war. Upon his return they remained in Wilmington with their two young daughters, until 1955, when they moved to Tewksbury, just before the birth of their third daughter. They lived in Tewksbury until Lee's retirement in 1986, when they began to fulfill their lifelong dream of traveling the U.S. during the warm months, and then wintering in Florida. They returned to New England in 1996 and settled in Greenville, NH. Ruth was a devoted wife for 67 years.

Ruth was one of seven children, and is survived by her sister, Charlotte M. Timlin of Kittery Point, Maine, her brother-in-law Francis Lascelles of Exeter NH, and her sister-in-law Martha Howe of Wilmington, Ma.

Ruth leaves behind her three daughters and their husbands, Judith Farinha and her husband, Pete of Nashua, Paulette Braffitt and her husband, Peter of Milford, and Brenda Hammar and her husband, Rick of Pelham. She leaves a total of four generations including her three daughters, ten grandchildren, twenty-one great grandchildren, and seven great-great grandchildren, plus many nieces, nephews, and cousins.

A memorial service celebrating Ruth's life will be held at 11:00 o'clock on Monday, June 28th, at the United Methodist Church, 327 North River Road, Milford, NH. Burial will follow in Riverside Cemetery, Milford, followed by a luncheon at the church. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made in Ruth's name to: Alzheimer's Association MA/NH, 311 Arsenal Street, Watertown, MA 02472. Smith & Heald Funeral Home, 63 Elm Street, Milford, NH, is handling arrangements. To leave an online condolence, please go to www.smith-heald.com

Ruth will be sadly missed, but never forgotten.

David T. Landers, Sr.

Patriarch of well-know Wilmington family; active with Senior Center

WILMINGTON - Mr. David T. Landers, Sr., a long-time Wilmington resident, died Thursday, June 17, 2010, at the age of 78. Dave was born on March 12, 1932, in Chelsea, MA, he was the son of the late James L. & Mary L. (Metcalfe) Landers. Dave's family moved to Wilmington when he was three years old, he matriculated through the Wilmington School System, being the last class to graduate from Wilmington High School, what is now called the Swain School.

Dave held 3 jobs after graduation, the last one lasted for more than 48 years. Dave retired in 1995 from the Hastings-Tapley Insurance Agency in Cambridge, where he held the position of manager of the automation systems. His fascination with automation led him to become a self-taught computer nerd and he has set up computer classes for the Wilmington Seniors at the Buzzell Senior Center.

Dave met Nancy Devitt when they were just 14 years old. Nancy lived in Michigan, but spent summer vacations with her aunt in Wilmington. They married in 1951 at the age of 19, and about 13 months later became proud parents for the first time. Dave and Nancy went on to add 7 more children to the family. Dave often said, "There was always room for one more". Dave and Nancy lived in a couple of different locations in Wilmington, before they finally bought the old family homestead from Dave's mother following the death of his father. It was like going home after 20 years. He lost his home in a tragic fire in 1969, but re-built on the same location where he was currently residing.

David was a member of the Commission of Elder Services, where he holds the position of Chair. He was very active at the Buzzell Senior Center in Wilmington, where he enjoyed their many trips and activities. He could be found at the Senior Center just about every day and welcomed questions and comments of the Center as well as the computer. He also produced the Buzzell Buzz and was involved in their yearly Talent Shows.

Dave will be fondly remembered for being kind and compassionate, always helping others, for handling life's adversities with strength, courage, and grace, and for his devotion to his family, who meant everything to him. He will be greatly missed by all who knew him.

Dave was the beloved husband of the late Nancy (Devitt) Landers, devoted father of Harry J. Landers & his wife Janis Jacquith of Free Union, VA, Michael D. Landers & his wife Debbie of No. Chelmsford, Susan M.

Landers-McNamara of Wilmington, and the late David T., Jr., William E., Kevin P., Lisa J., and Kathleen C. Landers, loving grandfather of David, Jackson, Jill, Tara, Kelly, Marci, Kaitlyn, Patrick, and great-grandchildren Ida, Harry, Madison, Ryan, and Michael, dear son of the late James L. & Mary L. (Metcalfe) Landers, brother of the late James Landers, brother-in-law of Gloria Landers of Holbrook.

Family & friends gathered at the Nichols Funeral Home, Inc., 187 Middlesex Ave. (Rte. 62), Wilmington on Monday, June 21st at 9:00 a.m. followed by a Funeral Mass at St. Thomas of Villanova Church, 126 Middlesex Ave., Wilmington at 10:00 a.m. Interment took place in the family lot at Wildwood Cemetery, Wilmington. Memorial donations in David's name may be made to the Buzzell Senior Center, 15 School St., Wilmington, MA 01887. Veteran U. S. National Guard, Korean Conflict.

Business Is Booming!! But...

Supply Shortage Drives Local Car Dealer To Pay-Off Consumer
Auto Loans And Leases Early To Keep Inventory Full

WILMINGTON— Good news for people who are tired of their ride: Bill Dube Hyundai needs used cars and is willing to do just about anything to get them...including eliminating the remaining payments on your current lease or loan.

Dealers nationwide have experienced a spike in sales recently, but manufacturers have slowed production to a near standstill and President Obama's Cash For Clunkers program removed 690,000 vehicles from the road. This all means there are not enough vehicles "for sale" right now to keep up the current sales pace. One local car dealer, Scott Dube from Bill Dube Hyundai, invented a unique solution to the problem.

"Our business can't afford to wait for this problem to run its course. We need to keep selling cars this month. But with only a 56-day supply on-hand nationally, we need to do something pretty drastic. There are thousands of people in this town who want a nicer, newer car but are still making payments. Then there's me, who needs used cars. So...how about I handle the remaining payments and you get a better car right now?"

At most dealerships, the credit score matters more than the person. But our relationships with many flexible lenders allows us to match your credit application with the lender most likely to approve you...a bank that will take the person into consideration, not just the credit score. Heck, just looking at the credit scores is what got us into this mess in the first place. It's high time to put the person first, in my opinion. That's how we operate here. Scott Dube

This unusual proposal makes sense because rather than removing a car from the inventory at the time of purchase, you actually replenish the supply when you trade in. Scott Dube says that each transaction has a unique "Inventory Footprint" with some transactions resulting in -1, some in 0, and some in +1. According to Dube, "This month we're looking for 0's and +1's, which means we'll buy your current vehicle even if you don't buy one from us and we'll pay off your loan or lease early, just so we can keep our inventory from running dry."

How Long Will This Last?

When asked about timing, Dube explained, "This problem should only last about a month. I expect the supply to level out by July as the manufacturers pick up the pace and other dealers' sales slow down. But we only have 12 months in a year, and I'm not willing to go dark for one of them."

Automotive experts indicate that this inventory correction could last anywhere between 10 and 45 days. The offer to eliminate the remaining payments on your loan or lease is good until June 30, 2010 or until the inventory supply returns...whichever comes first.

A Trader's Market?

"It's a lot like a perfect storm," says Dube. "Nobody could have predicted it, and it only comes around every 10 or 15 years. Suppliers have been slowing down consistently over the past few years. But nobody expected so many sales to be made so quickly in the first part of 2010. Until it's resolved, this "perfect storm" creates what's known as a "Trader's Market" which places upward pressure on the value of your trade. That extra value gives me the leverage I need to negotiate favorable buy out terms with your original bank."

Wilmington residents are lining up at Bill Dube Hyundai to have their car loans or leases paid off early (sometimes YEARS early) and then driving home in a nicer, newer vehicle long before they thought they could. National auto supply shortages are forcing Bill Dube Hyundai to overpay for trades, resulting in early pay-offs. This rare 'trader's market' will only last through the end of the month. Call or visit Bill Dube Hyundai at 271 Main St., Wilmington MA today!

The Banks Want Out

To make the timing even better, it seems that some banks are anxious to eliminate loans made between two and five years ago. "There was a lending frenzy during that time that caused many banks to make deals they wish they wouldn't have made (now known as toxic assets). Now they're trying to clean their books up...and many are more than happy to be finished with loans that aren't yet paid off. This works in your favor."

"It truly is a good opportunity for all involved: the bank gets their money, I get the inventory I need, and you get the nicer, newer car you want. There are no losers in this deal!" trumpeted Dube.

People Over Credit Profiles

"At most dealerships, the credit score matters more than the person. But our relationships with many flexible lenders allows us to match your credit application with the lender most likely to approve you...a bank that will take the person into consideration, not just the credit score. Heck, just looking at the credit scores is what got us into this mess in the first place. It's high time to put the person first, in my opinion. That's how we operate here."

What Next?

Scott Dube expects a heavy response to this offer, so please call ahead and make an appointment to have your current loan or lease evaluated. Walk-ins will be accepted, though may require a short wait. If lines are busy, please keep calling.

Please call 888-420-9697 or visit Bill Dube Hyundai at 271 Main St., Wilmington MA right away.

Ask The Dealer For The People:

Q: Who is this right for?

A: This is good for anyone who is currently making a car payment but would like to switch to a nicer, newer car and stop making his or her current payments.

Q: Will there be a negative impact on my credit score?

A: No. Your current lease or loan will be paid off and there will be no negative consequences. If anything, it could help your score because you've successfully paid off the loan or lease.

Q: What will my new payment be?

A: That depends on what car you choose next. Often we can keep your payment the same and sometimes the payment is actually a bit lower. Imagine driving a nicer newer car with a lower payment.

Q: How much will I need for a down payment?

A: There is no fee for us to evaluate your trade-in and eliminate your payments. And many of the banks we work with offer no to low down payment options. Plus my Transparent Trade Appraisal Process means you'll receive a fair, accurate and complete evaluation of your current vehicle and situation, with no pressure. You'll be able to make an intelligent decision with all the facts.

Q: Do I have to have good credit?

A: Good credit makes it easier on us...but we really need cars right now. So please bring in your car so we can have a chance at eliminating your payments no matter what your credit is like. My For The People Credit Approval Program is designed to help you get approved even if you've made mistakes in the past.

Q: What if my car is paid off?

A: Even better. Your car may be worth more right now than it has been in the past. So trading in right now could be a wise investment. This is the perfect timing. And anybody who trades in a car that's already paid off will receive a $1000 voucher to be used toward the price of any vehicle or toward your down payment.

Please call 888-420-9697 or visit Bill Dube Hyundai at 271 Main St., Wilmington, MA right away.

Scott Dube is a Dealer for the People and a Consumer Advocate. Dube is the author of several consumer guides on car buying.

Tewksbury's Destination ImagiNation team's attends Global Finals in Tennessee

TEWKSBURY - The "Orange Peels", a group of seventh graders from the John W. Wynn Middle School in Tewksbury, recently competed in the Destination ImagiNation Global Finals tournament at the University of Tennessee in Knoxville. After presenting their solutions to DI-Bot, a robotics-oriented challenge for which they had prepared all year, and to an impromptu Instant Challenge, the Orange Peels were proud to finish in eleventh place out of 60 teams in the Middle School division. They had the second highest score on the Instant Challenge, a remarkable achievement. This result capped off a terrific tournament season, which saw the Orange Peels finish first in their Regional tournament and second in the State tournament.

Team members and coaches spent several busy days in Knoxville. Along with participating in their competitions, they were able to meet students from almost every state and over 30 countries, trade commemorative pins, go ziplining, explore caves in the Great Smoky Mountains, enjoy other team and individual activities and spend quality time swimming and diving at the university's aquatic center.

The team could not have made the trip without tremendous financial support from individuals and businesses both in Tewksbury and across the area. Its fundraising efforts, including a dance, raffle calendar, candy sales, and a McDonald's night, were all well received by the community. The team would especially like to thank the people and companies that made donations of cash, services, or raffle prizes. These include:

Caritas Holy Family Hospital, Tewksbury Country Club, John Kent and World Color Press, Inc. of Leominster, Universal Color Corporation of Wilmington, Wynn Middle School PAC, Heath Brook School PAC, Ferry Street Ink of Everett, The Chisolm Family.

The Roy Family, Tewksbury Self-Defense Institute, Tewksbury Rotary Club, The Hanning Family, The Marino Family, McDonalds, Applebees, Aurora Salon, Balance Spa, Donna's Donuts, Fresh Looks Salon, Gold's Gym, JB Butcher, Liberty Hotel of Boston, Mango II Thai Cuisine Restaurant, Mavericks Restaurant, Ninety-Nine

Restaurant, Not Your Average Joes Restaurant, Oakdale Liquors, Piccadilly Pub Restaurant, Salon Estilio, Scampos Restaurant of Boston, Venetian Moon Restaurant of Reading and Wal-Mart.

The team would like to thank Principal John Weir and Assistant Principal Adam Colantuoni of the Wynn Middle School for their assistance and their support in promoting this event within the Wynn School community.

Finally, the team would like to thank Holly Fleury, the director of Tewksbury's DI program, for her assistance and guidance throughout the entire planning process for the trip. Having taken a team to Globals in 2008, Mrs. Fleury's insight into the "do's and don'ts" of Globals, and her help in coordinating the team's fundraising efforts, was invaluable.

It was a fantastic trip, and it gave some great kids from Tewksbury a chance to show their talents to the world, and excel while doing it. DI will start up again in the fall, and hopefully Tewksbury's participation in the program will continue to grow so even more teams have a chance to make a similar trip in the future.

Women and power tools at Tewksbury Public Library

TEWKSBURY - Visit the Tewksbury Public Library on Wednesday nights this June to hear local authors discuss their latest works. Next week's "Behind the Book" author talk features non-fiction writer Marie Leonard, author of Marie's Home Improvement Guide and owner of Marie's Home Improvement.

(Note: You do not have to read the book to enjoy this wonderful program.) On Wednesday, June 30 at 6:30 p.m., Marie Leonard will lead a lively, informative, entertaining and educational presentation weaving together her life lessons learned while doing home improvement projects with practical tips and demonstrations of her favorite tools. After twenty years of doing projects around her house and yours, Marie has collected an endless supply of stories, anecdotes and lessons. She will reveal "the hidden power in power tools" and show women (and men) that "if I can fix it, so can you!"

Marie's Home Improvement Guide (Seal Press/ November 2009), by Marie Leonard, provides readers with the know-how to tackle a variety of house projects. Marie covers the basics: introduction to tools, safety precautions, necessary prep-work, and shopping for the right materials. You'll learn how to hang a picture, install a door, fix a leaky faucet, and even replace an old electrical outlet. Marie's tips are written in an informative and accessible manner, paired with detailed illustrations. With difficulty and fun ratings for each project, Marie's Home Improvement Guide proves that home repair doesn't need to be hard or boring! A reassuring source of encouragement, Marie's Home Improvement Guide is a must-have book for all first-time do-it-yourselfers.

Marie Leonard runs her own home improvement business, Marie's Home Improvement, in Westford, MA. Marie teaches home improvement classes to women, with the hopes of empowering women to do their own home repair. She believes that women shouldn't have to depend on others for home repair, and is helping thousands of women save money and time, conquering the fear of do-it-yourself work. Marie has been featured in the Boston Globe, Lowell Sun, Real Simple magazine, and has appeared on TV. Learn more about the author at her website: www.marieshomeimprovement.com.

Doors open at 6:15 p.m.; the event begins at 6:30 p.m. Registration is strongly recommended as it aids the presenter and library staff in planning. Register by visiting the library's online calendar (www.tewksburypl.org) or calling the Reference Desk at 978-640-4490 ext. 207. Seating is limited to 50. Light refreshments will be provided. A door prize will be awarded.

This event is FREE thanks to the generosity of the Friends of the Tewksbury Public Library. The Friends of the Tewksbury Public Library's Friendly Little Bookshop will be open prior to the event.

Winchester Hospital offers Reiki classes at the Community Health Institute

WOBURN, Mass. - Recent popularity of Reiki has prompted Winchester Hospital's Community Health Institute to offer a class on how to utilize this new healing therapy. The class will be held from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. on Sunday, June 27 in the Crandall Conference Room (CC2) at Winchester Hospital.

Reiki uses specific techniques to balance the natural life force energy in the body.

It reduces stress to increase relaxation and avoid energy depletion. The placing of hands is used in this type of healing remedy. However, the hands are not placed directly on the patient but rather above and draw out energy as needed.

This course teaches the history and philosophy of Reiki. It also teaches the proper hand placements for treatment and allows time for students to practice treating themselves and others.

The course cost is $150. Six contact hours will be awarded for those seeking Continuing Education Units (CEUs). Upon completion of this class, students will receive a certificate and will be able to use Reiki to treat themselves as well as others.

For more information, or to register for the class, please call the Community Health Institute at 781-756-4700.

Tewksbury Historical Society

Four members to be honored at the upcoming Annual Meeting

TEWKSBURY - On Monday, June 28, 2010 at 6:30 p.m. at the Tewksbury Library, the Tewksbury Historical Society will be having its Annual Meeting for its membership. The highlight will be the honoring of four members for fulfilling the mission of the Tewksbury Historical Society. This award was started last year by the naming of Valerie Rogers as the first recipient. An award plaque has been crafted by cabinetmaker Vito Iyas and four members will be having their names placed on the plaque.

Treasurer Kenneth Mouser will present the budget for this year and will highlight last year's financial year.

President David Marcus will give his "State of the Society's" address. He will focus on research he has done on 398 Livingston Street, 47 Maple Street and three other houses made with fieldstone features that the hospital built between 1885 and 1906. These antique houses are due to be demolished because of their dangerous condition. Hear what the Society is doing to preserve the history of those houses.

The final part of the Annual Meeting will have to do with one bylaw change and the election of the slate of officers from the Nominating Committee. Under newly enacted bylaws on April 20, 2010, since no challengers to the incumbent Officers and Board members was received by May 28, a ballot vote will not be necessary. One Board member decided not to run for a the Board of Directors and one person, Kim Zunino did submit her name by the May 28 deadline for the opening and will be elected at the meeting.

Only members will be allowed for the business part of the meeting. The general public may attend but will not be allowed to speak or vote on the official business of the Society.

Winchester Hospital Recognizes 'Extraordinary Nurses' Celata and Ferrante with DAISY Award for Haiti Relief

WINCHESTER, Mass. — Winchester Hospital has recognized operating room nurses Stephanie Celata, RN of Tewksbury and Leigh Ferrante, RN of Woburn as its most recent recipients of the DAISY Award for Extraordinary Nurses for their role in the relief effort for Haitian earthquake victims in January. The DAISY Award, presented in collaboration with the American Organization of Nurse Executives, is part of the DAISY Foundation's program to recognize the exceptional efforts that nurses make each day.

With less than 24 hours of notice, Celata and Ferrante packed their things, said goodbye to loved ones, got the necessary vaccines and paperwork, and boarded a plane to join a medical team in Haiti. Throughout their eight-day trip, the need for medical treatment, supplies and compassion never slowed as the medical volunteers bore witness to innumerable stories of heartbreak and heroism.

They treated a man covered with third-degree burns who was pulled from wreckage three days after the road on which he was driving collapsed, causing his car to burst into flames. A baby in their care survived only because the mother gave her life to shield it from falling debris with her body. Victims who could not walk to the hospital were carried by family members or driven in the beds of pick-up trucks over bumpy dirt roads, which only added to their agony from broken legs and pelvic fractures. Traumatized patients insisted on sleeping outdoors so they didn't have to fear buildings collapsing on them.

The medical volunteers assisted in amputations, skin grafts, wound closures, plastic surgeries and other procedures despite no running water and limited medical equipment, supplies and electricity. Because an X-ray machine was not available, for example, orthopedic surgeons set fractures by feeling the bones. There were not enough anesthesia machines to go around, and no device was available to suction blood during surgery.

"When skill, caring and compassion were needed in a country ripped apart by disaster and chaos, Stephanie Celata and Leigh Ferrante never hesitated. They got on a plane and courageously went into the unknown," wrote Kathy Schuler, chief nursing officer and vice president of patient care services at Winchester Hospital. "We, the nursing staff of Winchester Hospital, are honored to be your colleagues and are tremendously proud of you. You have made a difference!"

Winchester Hospital has joined hundreds of medical facilities across the country in honoring extraordinary nurses with a DAISY Award each month. Based in Glen Ellen, Calif., the non-profit DAISY Foundation was established in memory of J.

Purpura (ITP) in 1999. The DAISY Award, which stands for "Diseases Attacking the Immune System," was established by Barnes' wife and parents as a gesture of thanks to nurses nationwide for the profound difference they make in the lives of patients and their families.

In recognition of their selection, Celata and Ferrante received a DAISY Award pin, hand-carved sculpture called "A Healer's Touch," and certificate that reads, "In deep appreciation of all you do, who you are and the incredibly meaningful difference you make in the lives of so many people."

Never leave your child alone in a car

WINCHESTER - Every year, an average of 37 children die from hyperthermia, or heat illness, because they are left unattended in vehicles that become too hot for them to survive. Winchester Hospital has joined with Safe Kids USA to encourage parents and caregivers to take precautions so this tragedy doesn't happen to them.

In just 10 minutes, a car's temperature can increase by 19 degrees - and it continues to rise as time goes on. Because a child's core body temperature heats up three-to-five-times faster than that of an adult, it only takes minutes for a child to become at risk of serious, permanent injury or death in a hot car. This is why it is not safe to leave your child alone - not even for one minute, and not even with the windows slightly open. There is no evidence that cracking the windows helps keep a car cool.

More than 50 percent of the children who have died from heat stroke were forgotten by a caring adult who became distracted when they left the vehicle. Thirty percent of affected kids gained entry into an unlocked vehicle, became trapped and were overcome by heat.

Some ways to protect children this summer include:

- Teach children not to play in any vehicle.
- Keep car doors and trunks locked so children cannot play in them, especially when at home. Keep keys and remote entry key fobs out of children's reach. Kids may be able to use a remote entry key fob to unlock a car from inside a house, leaving an unlocked car for others to enter.
- Watch children closely around vehicles, particularly when loading and unloading. Check to ensure that all children leave the vehicle when you reach your destination.

- Never leave a car with the motor running and the doors unlocked. Curious children could enter and engage the vehicle.

- Set your cell phone or Blackberry reminder to be sure you drop your child off at day care.

- Set your computer Outlook e-mail program to ask you, "Did you drop off your child at day care today?"

- Place something that you will need at your next stop (i.e., a purse, lunch, cell phone, PDA, gym bag or briefcase) on the floor of the back seat, in front of where the child is sitting. This simple act could help prevent you from accidentally forgetting your child if he or she is sleeping.

- Make it a habit to check the back seat every time you exit your vehicle.

- Be especially careful if you change your routine for dropping off your child at day care. Have a plan that if your child is late for day care that you will be called within a few minutes.

- Check cars and trunks first if a child goes missing.

Remember never to leave your child alone in a vehicle, even for one minute! And if you see that someone else has done so, call 911.

Benton's contract renewed and agreement followed a new public evaluation process in which the committee gave her very strong marks, awarding her the top grade in every area of the evaluation.

"It was very interesting," said School Committee Chair Margaret 'Peggy' Kane. "You go into it and you have a little bit of a sense of what others think, but you don't really know. It turned out we all thought the same about Joanne and her leadership. We just love her leadership style and we want to keep her for as long as we can have her."

The School Committee earlier this year finalized a contract with the Teacher's union, settling on a zero percent increase in FY10 and a 2.25 percent increase in FY11. Likewise, Kane points out that Benton also came off a year with a zero percent raise and even with the salary increase her compensation is still less than many of her colleagues in surrounding communities.

Kane also adds, relative to the contract with teachers, that for FY11 and with the volume of new teachers to the district, most salary increases will average 5.7 percent when including the raise and lane changes.

"She's always in the forefront of what's new and what's working. Right now she's at a three-day conference. She's always maintaining her own education for the good of Wilmington," said Kane. "It's very important to her to build a new school for Wilmington, hopefully within three years we will be well on our way to building a new school and with her leadership we know it will be done right. She works so well with the town side, she and Town Manager Mike Caira have a strong working relationship."

Kane praised Benton's achievements during the last contract around technology and administrative organization. The technology committee, comprised of town, school, and businesspeople, created a plan that expends funds annually for technology in a strategic way that benefits the students. Her five-year plan offers the school principals flexibility to pursue solutions unique to their buildings while addressing overall issues important to the district.

Looking ahead, Kane sees the pursuit of a new plan for Wilmington High School as the biggest challenge on the horizon, but notes that it comes at a good time because the Superintendent has had the time to establish her leadership style and vision for the district.

Benton was named Superintendent in 2007, following a stint as Assistant Superintendent where she led the efforts for full day Kindergarten and managed teacher training (what is now Wilmington University), and more when then-Superintendent William McAlduff resigned to accept a position in Winchester. Her selection as his successor was very popular.

Benton had previously served as Interim Superintendent of Lexington Public Schools from 2001 to 2004 and before that was a curriculum administrator and a classroom elementary teacher for 11 years.

The School Department budget for FY11, approved at Town Meeting, shows an increase of $700,000, or 2.33 percent, on a total amount of $30,700,000.

Northeast team takes on defending league champs

After an opening game rain-out last Sunday, the Wilmington Northeast League baseball team opened the summer season against the defending champions at Dracut High School on Tuesday evening.

In a well pitched game on both sides, starter Sean Hanley matched a tough Dracut southpaw pitch for pitch to carry a 0-0 tie into the bottom of the fifth inning.

The Hillies manufactured a run on a leadoff walk followed by a stolen base, and a throwing error moved the runner to third. Hanley scored on an infield hit giving Dracut a 1-0 lead going into the sixth.

Dracut's hurler began to run out of gas in the top of the sixth when Jim Bonish led off with a hard single followed by a walk to Dan Pendenza and an infield hit by Vinny Scifo loading the bases with no outs.

After a pitching change, consecutive singles by Zach Copp, Hanley, and Chris Frissore and a double by Cole Pepper plated five runs to give Wilmington a commanding 5-1 lead. Mike Gracia came on to pitch the last two innings with strong outing, allowing single runs in each.

Wilmington scored two of their own in the top of the seventh. Gracia led off with a hard single to right, Andy Owens was hit by a pitch and Scifo walked.

The two runs came in on a sacrifice fly by Hanley and a Dracut throwing error for a 7-3 Wilmington win.

Wilmington faced off against Lowell on Thursday at Wilmington High School. Starting as pitcher was Chris Frissore, who was inconsistent with six walks over the first three innings.

Trailing 2-1 going into the third, Frissore stayed in to finish the inning but allowed three more runs after being drilled in the back by a shot back to the mound.

Wilmington chipped away at the deficit with a run in the first on an infield hit by Scifo who stole second and moved to third on a fly ball out, and scored on a passed ball. Two more runs scored in the bottom half of the third when Scifo reached on an error following a walk to Bonish. Hanley then roped a double to deep right to drive in both runners.

Gracia relieved Frissore and threw three scoreless innings, allowing just three hits. In the meantime, the boys in blue were busy taking the lead.

With one out, Owens legged out an infield hit and scored on a two out double by Scifo, who then scored on a single by Copp. Three straight walks followed, scoring Copp and giving Wilmington a 6-5 lead going into the seventh.

Scifo came on to close it out but was victimized by a very poor call on a great catch by right fielder Bonish who dove, caught and hung on to a sinking liner, but dropped the ball on the exchange, and the runner was ruled safe. That runner would eventually score on a Wilmington fielding error to send the game into extra innings.

Dan Pothier singled to lead off the bottom of the seventh, but was caught stealing as Wilmington went down 1-2-3. Lowell would score two in the eighth to take the lead on three singles and a hit batsman. Hanley led off the bottom of the eighth with a single, but the squad went down in order, stranding Hanley at first to hand Wilmington their first loss 8-6.

On Sunday, Wilmington met Burlington in a makeup of the opening day game at Wilmington High School. A poorly played marathon ended in a 15-15 tie after seven innings. The bats for both teams showed up, but the gloves were left at home, as both teams were ineffective in the field and on the mound.

Sean Hanley led Wilmington going three for four with a walk and reached base on every plate appearance. Dave Mello had three hits and Dan Pothier, Chris Frissore, Cole Pepper, and Mike Gracia all collecting two hits each. Jimmy Bonish and Phil Lentini both chipped in with hits as well. The defense was the story though with both sides committing six errors each.

The Wilmington High School Field Hockey team gathered together last week in celebration that Jodi MacKenzie was reinstated as the team's head coach. The team ended up getting t-shirts in honor of MacKenzie, who wore No. 7 when she was a Wildcat player, and put them on display. The team would like to thank alumni players, as well as Superintendent of Schools Joanne Benton for all of the support. (courtesy photo).

Moriarty shines at Shriner's Game

By JOSH VOTO
Sports Correspondent

FOXBORO - It's not everyday when you have an opportunity to come out of the same locker room tunnel as Tom Brady, Randy Moss and Wes Welker. And it's not everyday when you can help raise money for the children of the Shriner's Hospital.

Wilmington resident John Moriarty did both.

This past Friday night, cheers resounded throughout Gillette Stadium as some of Massachusetts' top football players took to the field to play in the 32nd Shriners High School Football All-Star Game. Many people were excited to see that many local boys were given the chance to play at the Shriners Game. Moriarty, a two-way lineman, played for Team North, who were defeated by Team South, 13-6.

"Walking out of that tunnel in Gillette Stadium felt awesome," said Moriarty. "It was such a good experience. 'I took a second when I was out there to look up and see how many people actually turned out to watch the game. It didn't look like there were a lot of people at first. But, it's tough to fill up a stadium that size. I was surprised to see that there was a large amount of people who came out to watch the game.'"

For over 30 years the Shriners All-Star Football game has collected some of the most impressive high school football players throughout Massachusetts to take to the field and showcase their abilities on the field. The Shriners All-Star Football game serves as a way to help fund the 22 Shriners Hospitals for Children, as well as to raise awareness of the many free health care rehabilitation treatments offered to the children and families at the hospital.

This year, 101 top football players throughout Massachusetts were given the chance to display their talents and abilities on the field. The selected athletes were broken up into two sides; the North and the South. The North and South rosters presented some very well-known high school football players taking part in the game. These big names included Boston Globe All-Stars-of-the-Year Brendan Burke of Austin Prep, Conor Ressel of Gloucester High School, Chris Splinter of Masconomet, and Ryan Izzo of Walpole High School.

Both teams were coached by an elite lineup of coaches throughout Massachusetts. The North and South All-Stars were under the directions of Coaches-of-the-Year Paul Ingram of Gloucester High School, Don Heres of Northeast Regional High School, Charlie Stevenson of Xavarian High School, and John Sousa of East Boston High School.

And before walking out of the tunnel and onto the Patriots Field, Moriarty admitted his stomach was in knots.

"I was kind of nervous before the game," explained Moriarty. "I was both nervous and excited. Sitting in the locker room at Gillette Stadium was a great experience. I was really happy to have the chance to play in the game."

Before the game began, the annual Shriners Parade took place. It started in the West Club Lot of Gillette Stadium, and finished at Patriot Place Plaza. It was a ceremonial time, leading up to the actual football game, which was a hard fought battle, all the way until the end.

In the first quarter, the North team struck first. BB & N's Derek Papagianopoulos broke through into the end zone, making it 6-0 in favor of the North. But, the South came right back as Jackson broke through the North's defense, receiving a pass from fellow Natick teammate McCummings making it 6-6. Then the South would take the lead as Catholic Memorial's Keshaudas

Spence would take it in from 10 yards out, giving the South a 13-6 lead. That's how the game would end.

"I think the team played really well, both offensively and defensively," said Moriarty. "All of the kids were very good football players, and I was happy to be on their team. I think our team played well. I was surprised at just how well our practices paid off."

Wilmington High head football coach Mike Barry thought his reigning Cape Ann League All-Conference selection, more than held his own against some of the state's best football players.

"John did very well in Friday's game," said Barry. "He worked very hard on the field. He was a great representation of the town. It was a lot of fun. There was definitely some good talent there. John played well. There was a good amount of people there supporting John from Wilmington. He was a great representation of our town."

Friday night's festivities gave many young football players throughout Massachusetts the chance to play at the next level. It allowed many young players the chance to play with kids who proved to be just as good, even better than themselves.

"I thought the game was great," acknowledged Moriarty. "I thought it was a good opportunity for me to represent my town, my family, and my friends. It was also great because it was for such a great cause. It was a good chance to help the kids."

Shawsheen Tech Football Camp set for July 19-22

The Shawsheen Tech football coaching staff will be holding their 2010 Youth Football Skills Clinic from July 19-22 from 4:40-7:30 pm at the Shawsheen Tech Football Complex on Cook Street in Billerica.

The clinic will be headed by Shawsheen head football coach and Athletic Director Al Costabile, who brings 18 years of head coaching experience to the camp and he will be joined by a coaching staff that combines for over 100 years of coaching experience including Chuck Baker, Brian McCarthy, Scott Laluna, Doug Pratt, Jim Sullivan and Jason Tildsley.

These coaches are highly trained, dedicated professionals who teach and coach the game of football as well as anyone. If you're looking for great coaching the Rams football clinic is what you want.

The cost for the clinic is $99 per participant and additional family members can attend for $75. The cost includes a camp tee shirt.

Each participant needs his or her own shoes or sneakers and mouthpiece. This is a non tackle clinic.

For more information or to sign up for the camp contact Al Costabile by at 978-671-3632 or 617-489-4809, or via e-mail at acostabile@shawsheen.tec.ma.us reported that the score of the 1974 Merrimack Valley Conference spring track meet was 74-73, while indeed the final score of this historic Wilmington High School meet was 74-71 Wildcats, a result that snapped an 11-year unbeaten streak by Andover High School. The column was taken from the upcoming book 'Our Mr. Kelley- A Lifetime of Coaching and Caring'- to be released this October through Harvard Books.

Wilmington Youth In-Town soccer season comes to an end

Girls Kindergarten Toronto FC vs New England Revolution

In what could have been confused as a World Cup Match, the Toronto FC started off strong with great offensive pressure from Emily Hassell and Marisa Bryan coupled with the steel like defense of Alyssa Rago made for an incredible game. Carmella Thompson scored first for the Toronto FC while Adin Brown like effort of Caterina Tassone were solid in the net to keep their team alive.

NY Red Bulls vs San Jose Earthquakes

Top-Notch play kept people watching this one. Excellent offensive plays by Lily Rubin and Sara Bernardo applied heavy pressure causing the San Jose Earthquakes to back pedal. Defensive positioning by Abigail Widomski fended off any threat that came thru making it tough for the San Jose Earthquakes. Kaili Almeida and Abigail Fry also played a great game in net keeping the game in hand.

The San Jose Earthquakes offensive pressure was relentless with Danielle Flaherty applying it with utter determination. Outstanding defense by Molly Cadigan was a sight to see. While scoring by Audrey Curdo, Jenna Danieli, Alexis Meza and Taylor Breen had the crowd on the edge of their seats.

Wilmington Youth Softball weekend round-up

U16 Pink 19, U16 Blue 10
Nancy Hurley doubled, tripled and drove in two runs to lead the U16 Pink team to a 19-10 victory over U16 Blue last week. Pink pitchers overcame a rough start and settled down to frustrate Blue hitters. Heather Benson retired four of the last five batters she faced and Charlene Sullivan came on and gave up only one hit, retired the side in the fifth inning and induced a game ending double play. Sullivan also had a single and a RBI to help the cause. Other Pink hits came from Sara Enis and Taylor Brooks. Brooks also drove in three runs. Shannon Wilcox reached base three times and scored each time. Defensively, Ennis made a fine play at third base in the fourth inning. Sullivan handled a tough comebacker to the mound, and Cassie Grasso had a strong game behind the plate. Blue's Robin Hollenbeck had two hits, including a RBI-triple in the fifth. Lauren McKenna doubled twice, driving in two runs. Jillian Williams and Megan Priem also each had RBI-doubles. Casey MacDonald drove in a run in the 1st with a single and Kelsey Finn notched two RBI and had a single. Jessica Kasperian made a nice catch at secondbase in the third and Nicki Lunt snared a line shot back to the mound in the fourth. Katherine McKenna continued to play well behind the plate, making several good throws including throwing out a Pink runner trying to steal in the fifth.

U16 Blue 15, U16 Purple 13
The final game of the 2010 spring season was played last Thursday and the Blue and Purple teams battled back and forth all night until Blue came back with a six-run sixth inning and held on in the bottom half to defeat Purple, 15-13. Blue pitchers Kelsey Finn, Jillian Williams, Casey MacDonald, and Nicki Lunt combined to hold Purple to only four hits. Lunt came on in the final two innings and fielded four grounders back to the mound and grabbed a line shot off the bat of Purple's Danielle Reynolds to account for 5 of the 6 outs. Blue hits came off the bats of Robin Hollenbeck, Jackie Kennedy, Megan Priem, Kelsey Finn and hard ripped doubles by Lauren McKenna, Katherine McKenna and Casey MacDonald. Williams, Lauren McKenna and Ashleigh Howland all scored two runs a piece. Finn and MacDonald each reached base three times. Amanda Richards, Jackie Parece, Katie MacDougall and Katie Goodwin all had hits for Purple. Goodwin's was a double in the second inning. MacDougall and Casey Murray each scored three runs. Murray also struck out five Blue hitters while on the mound. Defensively, Goodwin made a nice catch in centerfield to end the third inning and strand two runners. Kellie MacDougall did the same at secondbase in the fourth with two runners on and one out in the fifth. Hollenbeck lined a hard shot to Alex LeBlanc at firstbase. LeBlanc made the catch and then doubled off the runner, making the play herself.

The Blue team completed another successful season with a 7-4-1 record. It was the final Senior League softball game for Robin Hollenbeck and Nicki Lunt, who each will reach the age limit this season and will not be eligible to return next year. Both Hollenbeck and Lunt played four seasons with the Blue team and will be missed.

The GU12-4 Wilmington Wildcats soccer team capped off an undefeated spring season by winning the Division III Commissioners Cup over the weekend. They won the last game in dramatic fashion by scoring two goals in the last three minutes to capture the cup. The girls provided everyone watching over the past year lasting memories that will never be forgotten.

Wilmington's Lieutenant Brent Holloway and the U.S. NAVY

By PAUL FEELY

Many a boy, or girl for that matter, has spent time playing pirates, sailing the seas in search of adventure and treasure. But one Wilmington boy turned those playtime fantasies into a career, serving aboard a United States Navy vessel charged, in part, with hunting modern-day versions of pirates.

Lt. Brent Holloway, a Wilmington native, took a love of the sea and desire to serve his country and combined the two to create a career in the United States Navy, one that placed him on far off shores, as well as squarely in the sights of armed pirates last spring.

Currently aboard the USS Ashland in the Gulf of Aden (near Yemen), Lt. Holloway recently took part in an interview with Middlesex East publications about his service thus far in the Navy, and an incident where his ship came under fire from pirates.

Lt. Brent Holloway graduated from Wilmington High School in 2002 and received his Bachelor of Science degree in Marine Transportation from Massachusetts Maritime Academy in 2006, and was subsequently commissioned an Ensign in the US Navy through the USNR/Merchant Marine Reserve Program. He also holds a US Coast Guard Third Mates Licence.

Holloway knew early on that he wanted to join the Navy upon graduation.

"I wanted to do something different from what other people were doing after high school," said Holloway. "I wanted to see the world and go to far off places, but I also wanted to serve my country. There wasn't a strong military presence in my family and I wanted to establish one."

His first assignment was to the USS Paul Hamilton (DDG 60), homeported in Pearl Harbor, HI, where he served as the Electrical Officer and later the First Lieutenant. During this tour, Paul Hamilton completed a seven month deployment to the Western Pacific and Lt. Holloway earned his Surface Warfare Officer Qualification.

After detaching from Paul Hamilton in 2009, he reported to USS Ashland (LSD 48), homeported in Little Creek, Virginia as the Auxiliaries Officer. Ashland deployed in January, 2010 for 7 months to the Arabian Gulf and 5th fleet area of operation.

The Ashland has a long history associated with it.

USS Ashland is the eighth and last of the Whidbey Island class ships to be commissioned and the second U.S. Navy ship to bear that name.

The first was USS Ashland (LSD-1) and was commissioned June 16 1943.

The Ashland's keel was laid on April 4, 1989 at New Orleans, Louisiana by Avondale Industries Incorporated. Launching and christening took place on November 11, 1989 with Mrs. Kathleen Foley, wife of ADM. S. R. Foley, Jr. (Ret.), as ship's sponsor. She was commissioned on May 9, 1992 at New Orleans, Louisiana.

Since her commissioning, the dock landing ship has distinguished herself in a variety of missions and operations. During her maiden overseas deployment to the Mediterranean from August 1993 to February 1994, she participated in a number of significant operations including Operation Deny Flight and Operation Restore Hope.

The ship is part of the Nassau Amphibious Ready Group (NAS ARG), comprised of ships from Amphibious Squadron Eight (PHIBRON 8) including USS Nassau (LHA 4), USS Mesa Verde (LPD 19) and USS Ashland (LSD 48) along with embarked Marines from 24th Marine Expeditionary Unit (24 MEU).

The ships departed their Norfolk, Va. homeport Jan. 18 for a regularly scheduled seven-month deployment. Soon after their departure, the group was redirected to Haiti to support Operation Unified Res-ponse from Jan. 23 - Feb. 7. While there, more than 57,000 meals, 1,300,000 lbs of rice, 31,000 bottles of water, 3,200 lbs of medical supplies and 79,000 jars of baby food were delivered to the people of Haiti. Additionally, 16 patients were treated on NAS ARG ships.

NAS ARG began its transit across the Atlantic Ocean to resume its deployment and is currently operating in the 5th Fleet area of responsibility (AOR). This area encompasses the Persian Gulf, Arabian Sea, Gulf of Aden, Red Sea and coast of east Africa as far south as Kenya.

The 5th Fleet AOR falls under the United States Naval Central Command (NAVCENT).

Movie Reviews

by Paul Feely

"Toy Story 3" a must see

"TOY STORY 3" is the third, and final movie of the Toy Story trilogy. It's a g-rated film that appeals to both adults and children alike; and is easily one of the best movies of the year. It's full of untamed toys and funny scenes. Perfect for a summer night at the movies.

"TOY STORY 3"
GRADE: ****

The toys are back in town, and they've been gone too long. Welcome back, Woody and Buzz.

'Toy Story 3' welcomes Woody (voice of Tom Hanks), Buzz (voice of Tim Allen) and the whole gang back to the big screen as Andy prepares to depart for college and his loyal toys find themselves in... daycare!

These untamed tots with their sticky little fingers do not play nice, so it's all for one and one for all as plans for the great escape get underway. A few new faces—some plastic, some plush—join the adventure, including Barbie's counterpart Ken (voice of Michael Keaton), a thespian hedgehog named Mr. Pricklepants (voice of Timothy Dalton) and a pink, strawberry-scented teddy bear called Lots-o'-Huggin' Bear (voice of Ned Beatty).

The film is directed by Lee Unkrich (co-director of "Toy Story 2" and "Finding Nemo"), produced by Pixar veteran Darla K. Anderson ("Cars," "Monsters, Inc."), and written by Academy Award-winning screenwriter Michael Arndt ("Little Miss Sunshine").

"Toy Story 3" is easily one of the best movies of the year and an early safe bet for the Best Animated Picture Academy Award.

Crossed signals between Andy and his mom land the crew - which includes Andy's younger sister's unwanted Barbie (voice of Jodi Benson) - in a donation box and they're quickly sent off to Sunnyside Daycare.

"Toy Story 3" is full of very funny scenes, like when Buzz is inadvertently switched into Spanish mode and he takes on the characteristics of a suave Latino lover. A wealth of new characters add to the energy. Barbie's counterpart Ken is especially entertaining - tongue-in-cheek references to Ken's feminine tendencies are dead-on ("I'm not a girl's toy! Why do people keep saying that?").

A G-rated film that appeals to both adults and children alike is a rare breed and exactly what summertime family movies are all about. The bond that has developed amongst Andy's toys, and the attachment Andy himself has to them, is poignant and heart-felt - touching to anyone who remembers when it was finally say goodbye to childhood toys.

And "Toy Story 3" ends at the top of its game, wrapping the three pictures into one tremendous trilogy in an exceptional way.

"THE KARATE KID"
GRADE: ***

Did the world need a remake of 1984's "The Karate Kid"? Not really. Is it enjoyable nonetheless? Absolutely.

In Columbia Pictures' The Karate Kid, 12-year-old Dre Parker (Jaden Smith) could've been the most popular kid in Detroit, but his mother's (Taraji P. Henson) latest career move has landed him in China.

Dre immediately falls for his classmate Mei Ying - and the feeling is mutual - but cultural differences make such a friendship impossible. Even worse, Dre's feelings make an enemy of the class bully, Cheng.

In the land of kung fu, Dre knows only a little karate, and Cheng puts "the karate kid" on the floor with ease. With no friends in a strange land, Dre has nowhere to turn but maintenance man Mr. Han (Jackie Chan), who is secretly a master of kung fu.

As Han teaches Dre that kung fu is not about punches and parries, but maturity and calm, Dre realizes that facing down the bullies will be the fight of his life.

This version of the classic underdog tale doesn't have a winning catchphrase like "wax on, wax off," but it easily scores a knockout punch.

The film really takes off when Jackie Chan enters the picture. He smartly doesn't try to mimic Pat Morita's Mr. Miyagi and instead makes Han a completely different, but immensely entertaining character.

The original 'Karate Kid' and this new new version share some similarities, like the tournament, a maintenance man/karate instructor and tasks the child is assigned to do that actually help train him in the ways of karate, but this version also stands on its own much of the time.

The film, at a little over two hours and 13 minutes, is a fairly long run time for a movie geared more to a younger audience.

It's hard not to feel inspired at the end of this 'Karate Kid', even if the end result is obvious from the opening scene.

"GET HIM TO THE GREEK"
GRADE: ***

Okay, it's only early June, but 'Get Him to the Greek' is easily the funniest movie of the year thus far.

The movie reunites Jonah Hill and Russell Brand with Forgetting Sarah Marshall director Nicholas Stoller in the story of a record company intern with two days to drag an uncooperative rock legend to Hollywood for a comeback concert. The comedy is the latest film from producer Judd Apatow (The 40-Year-Old Virgin, Knocked Up, Funny People).

Aaron Greenberg (Hill) gets things done. The ambitious 23-year-old has exaggerated his way into a dream job just in time for a career-making assignment. His mission: Fly to London and escort a rock god to L.A.'s Greek Theatre for the first-stop on a $100-million tour. His warning: Turn your back on him at your own peril. British rocker Aldous Snow (Brand, reprising his role in 'Forgetting Sarah Marshall') is both a brilliant musician and walking poster man for sex addiction.

Weary of yes men and piles of money, the former front man is searching for the meaning of life, with a few parties along the way. When he learns his true love is in California, Aldous makes it his quest to win her back before embarking on world domination once again.

As the countdown to the concert begins, one intern must navigate a minefield of London drug smuggles, New York City brawls and Vegas lap dances to deliver Snow to the Greek safe and sound.

Get Him to the Greek is laugh-out-loud hilarious, and follows the now familiar but thoroughly enjoyable Apatow film formula for success of shockingly crude vulgarity and equally shocking sentimentality.

The 2010 season will once again feature a diverse array of acts, some new to the series and some popular favorites will return. Styles include jazz, classic rock/pop, country, Italian, Big Band/swing and more!

About the Towns

by Phyllis Nissen

AUGUST, JULY, AND AGAIN: JULY

Please check your local "Daily Times Chronicle" for daily updates.

CHOW AND CIAO

IN WAKEFIELD

Wakefield's first Italian Festival is scheduled for Saturday, August 14 from 3 pm to 7 pm.

And who can resist? "This August," notes the Wakefield edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle," "in our very own Town of Wakefield, downtown strollers will be able to smell the sausages and peppers frying, the pizza bubbling, and enjoy Italian ice. While browsing the booths, shoppers can taste their favorite Italian pastries or perhaps sample cookies from a local cookie jar."

"On Saturday August 14th a portion of Main St. and Albion St. will be closed from 3 - 7 p.m., in order to welcome all to the Wakefield Event Planning Committee's first Italian Festival. Stores from across the community will be set up along a portion of Main and Albion Street to satisfy all your shopping needs, as well as your food cravings. Also, look for great in-store specials in the local retail shops. Enjoy the entertainment or drop by the Wakefield Event Planning Committee's tent where we will be spinning the roulette wheel. The lucky winners will walk away with great prizes."

"At 7 p.m. the Festival will move to the Civic Center on Main St., where participants will enjoy an authentic Italian feast and be entertained by Italian folk music and dancing."

Tickets are $25, and will be limited to the first 200 people. Watch for weekly updates as the details of this fun event are finalized.

"If you would like to be part of the festival, contact Paul DiNocco at: wakefield-eventscommittee@gmail.com. "Ci Vediamo il 14 agosto!"

NEXT ON THE READING AGENDA

With "only one major issue to be resolved," the Reading Community Planning and Development Commission is getting closer to solving the 30 Haven Street problem ... make that project.

"The Community Planning and Development Commission moved closer to settling on the future of 30 Haven Street, the former site of the Atlantic Food Mart ... when the commission moved to waive the density limitation, leaving pedestrian accessibility as the only major issue left to be resolved," notes the Reading edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"The new proposal featured a parking lot consisting of a one-way, counterclockwise loop around the lot containing mostly 75-degree angled spaces, with a two-way side road connecting to Haven Street."

"After over an hour of discussion regarding the layout of the parking lot, board member Dave Tuttle motioned for the board to waive the density limitation that stipulated that the development not exceed 70 units per acre. The motion passed unanimously by a 4-0 vote."

"The density waiver we might, in fact, be able to approve because the characteristics of the thing, whether it's plus or minus a unit, the overall plan is what we're looking for," said board member Dave Tuttle. "The only discrepancy in terms of the zoning is the density, and I think we have no qualms about the density of the proposal."

"The proposal did not, however, include a sidewalk along this two-way road that would allow pedestrians to walk around back without having to potentially avoid traffic. David Talbot, a local resident who attended the meeting, stressed the importance of having a sidewalk in place, adding that 'this project is going to set the tone for downtown for the next 100 years.'"

"...Because the issue with the sidewalk still needed to be worked out, a vote to approve the project was not held, and the public hearing will continue when the commission meets on Monday, July 12 at 7:30 p.m...."

DEVELOPMENT DEVELOPING IN WILMINGTON, ANDOVER, TEWKSBURY

Three planning boards met in Wilmington recently to hear a presentation on form-based code for the Tri-Town development area, the parcel of undeveloped land surrounding the proposed Interstate 93 interchange to be built between the Route 125 and Dascomb Road exits.

According to the Wilmington and Tewksbury "Town Criers," the code does not include plans for a shopping mall or housing on Tewksbury parcels. In Wilmington, the code calls for an employment park, which will accommodate plans for a hotel down the road...

"The comment period for the public begins now and has been extended to six weeks, closing July 20, 2010, so that residents have the time to react to the code. Documents including the details of the code can be found at each town's planning offices or online at <http://www.vhb.com/tri-townfb/documents.asp>."

Comments should be sent to town planning directors in Wilmington, Andover, or Tewksbury.

"About the Towns" covers recent events in the 10-town Middlesex East area. Because Middlesex East deadlines are early, please check the front sections of this paper for up-to-date information about your city or town. We also welcome original material - please send it to Phyllis Nissen, "About the Towns," Middlesex East Supplement, Box 240, Reading, MA 01867 or to schooltowns@comcast.net.

•MIDDLESEX EAST WEEKLY TRIVIA: Who are the only Hall of Famers to receive the NBA Sixth Man Award? Answer appears elsewhere in this column.

•On July 16, 2010 East CELEBRITY ELITE ALLSTAR CHEERLEADING GYM IN TEWKSBURY and Southern NH Spirit Boosters will host a Tumble-A-Thon fundraiser benefiting the Bella Tucker Fund. East Celebrity Elite is a competitive cheerleading gym for which area athletes from many communities in Massachusetts and New Hampshire train and compete. Athletes from the gym's cheer teams will raise money through sponsor donations, and will commit to tumble continuously for 3 minutes, choosing any tumble skill they wish to do during this time. Area businesses and residents who wish to make matching donations, or other contributions to the Bella Tucker Fund with this fundraiser may do so by contacting contact Nicole Wallace (phone: 603) 486-4812 or email: nolilfeet4@MSN.com. All donations are tax deductible, and 100 percent of funds raised by the event will be donated to the Bella Tucker Fund.

Bella Tucker is an 8-year-old girl who attends South School Elementary in Londonderry, New Hampshire and is a member of the Phantom Gymnastics team.

Bella became ill with a near fatal infection on Easter Sunday. Doctors gave little hope for this third grader's survival, but after five days in a coma she miraculously survived Streptococcus Pneumonia Sepsis with DIC (disseminated intravascular coagulation).

Unfortunately, her survival from this infection was not without significant cost. The infection caused extensive tissue damage, and on April 27, 2010, Bella underwent quadruple amputation surgery and is currently facing an extremely long and hard recovery at Children's Hospital in Boston with extensive rehabilitation to follow, as she learns to live life without her limbs.

Fortunately, Bella has the love and support of her three older brothers and younger sister during these trying times. The family is suddenly faced with significant challenges, many of which can be eased with financial help. For example, their home in Londonderry, New Hampshire will need extensive modifications to accommodate a wheelchair. Bella's mother, who is also her primary insurance holder, must be by her side during the extensive rehabilitation process and therefore she will be unable to work, causing the family to lose significant income. Since her mother will be with her during this process, the family needs funds for daycare of their other children. She will be faced with medical challenges for the rest of her life.

•Need some help with this week's question? There are two.

•Dick Umile, head coach of the University of New Hampshire men's hockey team, has announced the six-member incoming freshman class of 2010 Friday morning. Justin Agosta (East Meadow, N.Y.), Kevin Goumas (Lake Worth, Fla.), Eric Knodel (West Chester, Pa.), Jeff Silengo (Madison, Conn.), Nick Sorkin (Rockville, Md.) and JEFF WYER (READING, MASS.) comprise the Wildcats' freshman class for the upcoming 2010-11 season.

"This class of incoming freshmen will help the UNH program in many ways. They feature great skills and strong knowledge of the game," said Umile. "Each of them will be asked to make an immediate impact both on and off the ice. Overall, we are very happy to be adding this group of six hockey players to the UNH program."

Wyer (G, 6-0, 185) looks to join a long line of successful UNH netminders from the Bay State, including most recently Kevin Regan and Mike Ayers. Wyer played last season for the Valley Jr. Warriors of the EJHL, posting a 14-13-1 record in 29 games with a .907 save percentage and a 3.87 goals against average. The Reading High School product's accomplishments are extensive starting with a 50-15-3 record and a 1.45 GAA in his high school career. Wyer had 18 career shutouts including seven during his final season in Reading, a year in which he was 12-8-3 with a .934 save percentage. Wyer's Reading team was named the Massachusetts Super 8 champions in 2008 and was also Middlesex League champions in 2006-07 and 2007-08. In 2009, Wyer was named to the Boston Globe All-Scholastic and Super Team, as well as the Boston Herald All-Scholastic and Dream Team.

The Wildcats officially kick off the 2010-11 season on Friday, Oct. 8 (7:30 p.m.) at national-power Miami University in Oxford, Ohio. UNH will host an exhibition game on Saturday, Oct. 2 against St. Francis Xavier University at the Whittemore Center at 7 p.m. New Hampshire's home opener is Saturday, Oct. 16 against the University of Michigan, one of the nation's most storied hockey programs.

•Three men's lacrosse players were named to the east squad for the 2010 NEILA Turf East/West All-Star Game, while assistant coach Chris Lewis co-coached the team at Endicott College.

"It's always exciting to be on the field with the kids of that talent," said Lewis. "I'm honored Mike put me up for the spot and I'm looking forward to it. It's always nice when you get to coach three of your own guys one last time as well."

Lewis, who completed his third season as the assistant coach at Merrimack, will be joined by Brett Holm, the assistant coach for the Division III National Champions Tufts University.

Mark Webber (Mansfield, MA), Shane Mahar (Slingerlands, NY) and CORY SPINALE (WAKEFIELD, MA) will all represent the Warriors, who tied with Saint Anselm and Sacred Heart for the most selections to the annual game.

"It is great that the NEILA recognized Chris' efforts this year and how important he has been to the programs success over the past three years as well," said head coach Mike Morgan. "Having three of our players in the game and our head assistant coach is a great accomplishment for the program."

Webber, Mahar, and Spinale all graduated from Merrimack in May and were all-conference selections in their final season, guiding the Warriors to their second-ever Northeast-10 Championship.

•ANSWER TO THIS WEEK'S TRIVIA QUESTION: The two are Kevin McHale (who won in 1984 and 1985) and Bill Walton (in 1986). The award was created in 1983.

•DO YOU KNOW SOMETHING WE DON'T? If you have information about a local athlete that you would like to see appear in this column, please email it to readingchronicle@comcast.net, or mail it to: Paul Feely, Middlesex East Sports, P.O. Box 240, Reading, Ma., 01867, or call Paul at 781-944-2200.

Holloway

From S-1

NAVCENT's mission is to deter or defeat aggression in littoral and maritime areas of responsibility; work with regional, joint and other partners to improve overall security, stability and regional nations' maritime capabilities; and remain ready to respond to the full range of crises, including environmental and humanitarian.

NAS ARG operations in the 5th Fleet area of operations are focused on reassuring regional partners of the Coalition's commitment to help build security and stability through a naval presence that deters destabilizing activities while safeguarding the region's vital links to the global economy.

Due to the amphibious capabilities of NAS ARG, it is a flexible and maneuverable component of 5th Fleet and Coalition forces that make it well-positioned to respond to any potential emergent situations.

NAS' ARG is here to work more closely with regional partners and allies to protect and extend security and prosperity, which depend on free use of the seas. We are committed to continuing operations that create a lawful maritime environment.

A typical day for Holloway begins at 0600 hours, or 6 a.m. for non-military types and always includes a five-hour stint on watch. That may conjure up images of a solitary sailor high atop a mast, scanning the horizon for signs of trouble, but that's not exactly the case in the year 2010.

"Sometimes that's what it involves - just looking out over the water for signs of trouble," said Holloway. "But it can involve radar, video surveillance, all of which can take place inside the pilot house. We also spend a lot of time logging paperwork and performing maintenance on the ship, to make sure it continues to operate at the best possible levels."

Lt. Holloway was on one such shift when he and his ship took fire from a small skiff filled with six armed pirates on April 10.

"It was just about at the end of my shift, when we were approached by a 25-foot skiff with pirates on board," said Holloway. "They began firing at us, and all of this took place just 336 miles off the coast, which shows how dangerous this region can be."

Ashland was fired upon by a small skiff manned by suspected pirates in the Gulf of Aden, approximately 336 miles off the coast of Djibouti.

Ashland received small arms fire on the port side from the six man crew of suspected pirates aboard the skiff, which caught fire after Ashland fired two rounds. The suspected pirates abandoned their skiff. Once it was verified that the suspected pirates didn't have weapons, all six were brought on board Ashland. There is no apparent damage to Ashland and there were no injuries to any members of the crew.

While list of locales he has visited over the past few years is extensive (and includes Hong Kong, Australia, Kuwait, Bahrain, the Mediterranean and Turkey), one of his favorite destinations remains his hometown of Wilmington, where his father Steve, mother Terri, and older sister Lauren still reside. He hopes to get back there later this summer for a visit, likely sometime in August.

All the Navy has to offer will soon be on display in Boston.

For the sixth year in a row Boston is hosting a Navy Week celebration Wednesday, June 30 to Monday, July 5 in conjunction with the 29th annual Boston Harborfest. Navy Week recognizes the Sailors who serve our country and the communities that support them. Through a series of events ranging from free ship tours to Navy band musical performances and meet and greet events with local Sailors, area residents have an opportunity to meet and interact with hundreds of Navy Sailors, learn about the Navy's broad-ranging capabilities and its critical 21st century mission.

Admiral Gary Roughead, the Chief of Naval Operations, along with Rear Admiral Mark S. Boensel, Commander, Navy Region Mid-Atlantic, and Weymouth native Rear Admiral Margaret DeLuca Klein, Director of Global Operations Officer, Naval Network Warfare Command will participate in various ceremonies and meetings throughout Navy Week.

In addition to the Admirals, the Norfolk-area based amphibious assault ship USS Whidbey Island (LSD 41) and frigate USS Hawes (FFG 53) will arrive Wednesday morning June 30, joining the Boston-based USS Constitution, the oldest commissioned warship afloat in the world and the official Ship of State for our country. All ships will be open to the public for free guided tours throughout the week.

Crewmembers from all three ships, as well as local members of the Navy Reserve, will also participate in community service projects at the New England Shelter for Homeless Veterans, the Boston Rescue Mission, and the Pine Street Inn. They will also make visits to the children's wards of three local hospitals. More than a dozen sailors and officers participating in Navy Week are Massachusetts natives.

A list of all events and activities can be found at: 2010 Boston Navy Week www.navyweek.org/boston 2010

"It's a great experience," said Holloway. "There are lots of demonstrations and events for everyone and it really showcases everything the Navy has to offer."

Coburg has welcoming, country home appeal

The Coburg has the warm, welcoming appeal of a traditional American country home. Short columns accent the pony wall that rims a front porch which spans the entire front and wraps around on both sides. A vaulted central section highlights the front door.

Natural light washes into the two-story foyer through sidelights, a transom, and an upper level dormer. Double doors on the left open into a room that could be used as a den, study, or home office. The opening by the stairs, just past the coat closet, leads into a large family room linked to the dining room and kitchen. Double doors in the dining room offer direct access to the front porch.

The vaulted living room is straight ahead, past the stairs and a hallway that leads to the owners' suite. Its gas fireplace is set between stacked windows and an atrium door with a transom. This door and another in the mud hall offer access to the patio and vaulted gazebo outside.

In the passageway between the living room and kitchen, an extra-large pantry fills the alcove opposite a long counter with cabinets above and below. Other kitchen features include: a sunny eating nook, built-in appliances, an eating bar, and a rectangular work island with a built-in cook top and prep sink.

Laundry appliances and a mud bathroom line the mud hall that links to a three-car garage. The owners' suite has a large walk-in the

June 23, 2010

KIWANIS CLUB of WILMINGTON

To our friends and residents of Wilmington,

Welcome to the Wilmington Fourth of July Celebration.

The Kiwanis Club of Wilmington has prepared this supplement to give everyone a schedule of the week's events. It has been made possible through the generosity of our advertisers and volunteers. I find it refreshing to see that even in these difficult economic times, people are still willing to donate to worthy causes.

The club has had a successful year with the addition of several new members and the purchase of new equipment to enable us to expand on our ability to serve the community.

The following is a list of programs that we support:

1. Scholarships for graduating high school seniors
2. Senior BBQ's in May and August
3. Senior Center Christmas Dinner including serving shut-ins
4. Adopt-A-Family Christmas Program
5. Various youth sport groups
6. Boston Med-Flight
7. Kiwanis Pediatric Trauma Institute
8. The Kiwanis Playground at Silver Lake
9. Town school libraries
10. Bicycle Safety Program
11. The Fourth of July Committee

I would like to take this opportunity to say thank you to all the members and volunteers who have helped make this year a success. For those of you that are not members, but are considering joining, we meet at Rocco's Restaurant every Monday night at 7 p.m. Feel free to join us for dinner, as our guest, and find out more about this great group. We will be on the Common every night of the Fourth Celebration, so stop by and see us under the yellow and blue tent next to the gazebo. We will have membership applications available.

See you on the Common this Fourth!

Scott McGrath

President, Kiwanis Club of Wilmington

DO NOT TRY THIS AT HOME! The Wilmington Kiwanis Club serves a chicken BBQ dinner each 4th of July. They have had a dinner on the Wilmington Common every year since 1967. Here Scott McGrath and Ken McCowan "tend" the chickens as they simmer on the grill.

This year the Kiwanis Chicken BBQ is on Saturday, July 3rd. Tickets available in advance at the 4th of July HQ Building

The 1985 festivities included a Triathlon - running to Silver Lake, canoeing across and riding a bike around the lake a couple of times and back to back to the common.

1986 - The Sack Race. Anyone can do it. No one can do it and not look silly!

Please join us for the Wilmington Community Fund lunch served on the Wilmington Town Common, Saturday, July 4th (12 pm - 1:30 pm) Cost is $3.00

The Wilmington Community Fund (WCF) was started in 1945 as a volunteer non-profit organization to help families in need within the community. Our motto, "People Helping People" is a simple way of stating what the WCF does.

Our efforts are made possible from contributions and donations from people like you. In the coming year, we plan to continue our efforts as the demands for services and goods are expected to grow. Your donation is a gift of community - one that goes toward helping those most in need. We hope for your continued support in the future so that we might continue our legacy of assisting those in our community in need. 100% of your donation is used directly to benefit citizens of Wilmington and to support our scholarship efforts.

Donations can be made to the WCF by:

- Direct Donations
- Memorial Fund
- Payroll Deductions

Thanks to the generosity of people like you, the Wilmington Community Fund has been able to assist those Wilmington residents in need.

There is a right way and a wrong way to play croquet. No one is saying which one this is. Ken spinelli and Jim Stewart seem to have everything under control.

It was 1983. The Fourth of July Committee decided a little pain and paper would help the appearance of the old Wilmington Library Building. It needed a little sprucing up. . . . Well A LOT of sprucing up. Here John Brown (left) and Jim Stewart are adding a spot of white to the 125 year old building.
